

Case study

By Equity Housing Group

Mike Pomfret, Health and Safety Compliance Manager at Equity Housing Group shares his positive experience of utilising the Consortium's frameworks for Heating Systems and Property Safety and Security and of working with the procurement team.

"We'd been using their Heating Systems framework to look after our gas maintenance for a few months before I started, and when we were in a position to procure fire safety services I didn't hesitate to give them a call to take a look at their Property Safety and Security framework. It was a job that needed doing from the very start, and their services meant that instead of spending a few weeks sorting contracts it literally took me a couple of hours.

"I found their documents perfectly suited to what we needed, and the only work I needed to do was add in some information specific to our organisation that I wouldn't expect anyone else to know.

"The biggest repair job we've used the Heating Systems framework for is a commercial boiler, which was under £6000. It's more about the quantity of work we need to undertake: boiler servicing can cost tens of thousands based on the amount we have, and Consortium Procurement take the hassle out of organising the contracts so we can start work sooner rather than later.

"I've used other companies for procurement services in the past, but I'd have no hesitation recommending Consortium Procurement."

"I am incredibly happy with the quality of service I have received from Consortium Procurement over the past couple of years. I have had no problems with the work we have asked them to do, and they make my life a lot easier."
